PREFACE

The information in the following records has been obtained from many different sources.

I remember as a small boy, our mother, Mrs. Ann King-Manly, had considerable information in regard to her immediate Manly family. This she had gathered from the Manly's living at that time, and kept a written record of births, marriages and deaths in the Manly family throughout her married life.

After our mother died in 1881, my oldest sister, Lucy J. Manly-Ridings took it over, and did considerable inquiring and writing and kept up the family record. But she did not live to make a complete history.

When Lucy died in 1934, her daughter, Grace, wrote to me, asking me to take the Records and information which her mother had collected and carry it on.

I did considerable searching and letter writing to bring the Record up to 1938, at which time, I made a mimeograph copy, as many of the family know. Since then, there have been many changes and additions. Many thanks to the members of the family who have given late information in regard to the family.

During the past 18 years, I have had the privilege to examine several reliable records, such as the Congressional Library in Washington, D.C.; Maryland Historical Society, Baltimore City Library, Baltimore, Maryland; From County Clerks' Records in Maryland, Cecil County and records written by the Manly family who have written a History of the Family. These include, Mr. Ross Manly who lived in Indianopolis, Indiana (He died a few years ago); Mrs. Charlotte M. Goldsmith of Greenville. North Carolina, a cousin of Miss Louise Manly of South Carolina, who has written "An Account of the Descendants of Basil Manly, Captain in the Revolutionary War and related Families." Also another account by Mrs. Fanny Spurling of Delavan, Wisconsin.

The Media Research Bureau, Washington, D.C., to whom I had written, sent about all the information I have obtained on the early History of the Manly Family. I have used this information to compile this Family History, along with facts and dates as given by my sister, Lucy.

"We have it from tradition, that two brothers, by the name of Manly, came from England to America, with Lord Baltimore, in 1634, or there about. One of the brothers died, not having been married. The other is our Ancestor."

(Our great Uncle James Manly, son of Wm. Manly, told this to Thomas Manly, son of Wm. H. Manly, when he visited James Manly at Columbus Junction, Iowa in 1894, but did not know that it is in writing any where.)

There are other traditions which have some bearing on the history. One of which is: "That two brothers by the name of Manly came from England to America in 1630. Landed in Massachusetts in 1630, founding the Manly branch of the family in America. The fact that two brothers are mentioned in both cases is quite significant. The dates differ: 1630 and 1634.

Whichever is correct, there is a period of over 100 years not spanned by any records of births, marriages or deaths. Family records were not kept then as they are now. Many families had no record at all. Others had simply the names of father, mother and children written in the Family Bible. But few went back further than the parents.

Many of these records are no longer available, having been lost or burned.

There are a few records, however, which may be seen. In the Library of the Maryland Historical Society in Baltimore, Md., there is a collection of records from nearly all of the Counties of the State. These records are of Births, Marriages and Deaths, for the most part. In the Records of Cecil County may be found the following names and dates. (The spelling of the names are copied. They vary sometimes on the same page. Due probably to the penman who wrote them.)

> Jacob Mainly, son of John Mainly and Elizabeth, his wife, was born the 18th day of April, 1747.
> Jacob Mainly married Rebecca Lum, December 15, 1768.
> William Manely was born July 3, 1769. (another place it is spelled Manly.)
> Mary Manly was born March 26, 1771.

These are written in consecutive order as children of the same parents, Jacob and Rebecca Mainly. (The spelling is copied.)

The same names and dates are also in the records of St. Mary Anns Parish in North East, Maryland, Cecil County. The Baltimore records are copied from those in Cecil County Clerk's Office. But the spelling is not uniform in the copied records.

In the County Clerk's Office in Elkton, Maryland (Elkton is the county seat of Cecil County) may be seen the original Record of the marriage license of William Manly and Rachel Jackson. It was issued February 26, 1793. Also in the Church Records of St. Mary Ann's Parish at North East, Maryland, there is the record of the marriage of William Manly and Rachel Jackson by the Rev. William Duke, February 26, 1793.

I am convinced, both from the handwriting and the position on the page of the record, that it was written by the same person. And that Jacob Mainly was the father of William Manly who was born July 3, 1769. Also that he is the same William Manly who married Rachel Jackson February 26, 1793. (Difference in spelling, no doubt due to the clerk who wrote the record.)

Miss Louise Manly of South Carolina has written a Genealogy of Manly Family, "An Account of the Descendants of Basil Manly, Captain in the Revolutionary War, and Related Families." In her account she speaks of John Manly and his wife, Elizabeth. He is spoken of as a Planter. Miss Manly gives three accounts of the origin of the Manly Family in the U.S.:

1. That the Manlys are descended from an ancestor who came from Ireland to England and then to Baltimore, Md.
2. That the Manlys are descended from an ancestor who came direct from Ireland to Maryland.
3. That the Manlys are descended from an ancestor who came to England from Ireland or Normandy, and then to America.

These migrations came at the time of the establishment of the Catholic Colony in Maryland by Lord Baltimore, and the settlement of the Protestant Colonies in Massachusetts and New England.

Time: 1630 to 1634.

The Calverts (Lord Baltimore, who was George Calvert, and his son, Cecil) were originally from Yorkshire, England. Lord Baltimore was Secretary of Customs. The Manlys were also from Yorkshire, England and must have known of the Calverts before coming to America. However, the name Manly does not appear in the passenger list of either of the vessels which brought the Calverts and 200 families to Maryland. (Fred Manly saw the passenger list.) So, it would be easy to suppose that they, not being Catholics, came to America, first to Massachusetts and then to Maryland.

Professional Genealogists claim that they can trace the family line and furnish a pedigree for centuries past. Also a copy of "Coat of Arms."

The earliest authentic record that we have found is, "A Knight by the name of Manly came over from Normandy to England with William the Conqueror in 1066. He fought with such courage and distinguished gallantry in the "Battle of Hastings" that he was granted "Titles of Land" that same year for his services. He settled in the Township of Manlay, Parish of Fordsham, Chester County, England, and as was the custom, the name Manly was given to him.

His name is found in "The Rolls of the Battle Abbey"; in the "Doomsday Book" in 1085; in the "Rolls of Parliament" and the "Great Census"of 1275.

Some Genealogists offer to furnish a copy of The Coat of Arms of this Knight. They affirm that all the Manlys of Ireland, England, Scotland and America can be traced in direct line of descent from this Knight.

Another Genealogist, who thinks that the family originated in Ireland, promised to trace the Manly line back through all the Centuries "To the Verry Knights of Ireland Thimselves." He thinks that the name was originally O'Malley and that it has been modernized to Malley, to Mallett, and Menley and Manly. There is an "Irish Coat of Arms."

The Historian O'Hart says that the Manly Family was one of the principal families of Ireland in the 16th Century.

Name of Ancestors

The name Manly was derived from the residence of the first Manly that we have a record of having lived in England: Robert (or Roger) Demanly, of the Township of Manlay, Parish of Fordsham, Chester County, England. The spelling of the name has changed as the years have passed. The following have been found in written records:

Manlay, Manlegh, Manleigh, Mandley, Mandly, Mandleye, Mainly, Manlye, Manely, Manley and Manly. Today it is spelled mostly either Manley or Manly.

In the "Rolls of the Battle Abbey" it is spelled Manlay. In the Records of St. Mary Ann's Parish in North East, Maryland, it is spelled four different ways: Mainly, Manely, Manley and Manly, in recording the births of different members of the same family and on the same page. (Spelling due perhaps, to penman who recorded the names.)

In DeArmand's History of Chester, it is spelled Manley. But in the record of the marriage license of Great Grandfather William Manly and Rachel Jackson, at the County Clerk's Office at Elkton, Maryland, it is plainly MANLY.

I am satisfied, since seeing the above item in which the name is spelled MANLY, and since my Great Grandfather spelled it MANLY when he secured his marriage license, to continue to spell it MANLY, as did my father.

Clement
~~Clemens~~ Manly of South Carolina, a lawyer and descendant of Basil Manly, thought that if it were spelled MANLEY, it was of Irish origin, and if MANLY, of English origin. Jennie Manly Jones and Lucy Manly Riddings, and many of the western Manlys were of the same opinion.

I feel that most of my dates are correct, considering their source, and the connection which they make with their immediate relatives.

There are many reasons why I am putting in so much time in getting out this History. First, to be a help to any Manly who in future time may wish to write a History of his own. And secondly, to satisfy myself. It is partly because I have gotten together a great number of facts, and have been able to arrange them in their proper order over so many years, and also to fill out those which my mother and sister started.

I have been told not to climb my family tree. If I did I would be apt to find a rascal sooner or later. Thus far, I have not found him.

For the most part we are hard working people. Not Prodigies, but good citizens; who keep their wits about them; who act as balance wheels for the community; who prize honesty and industry above wealth and fame.

Personally, I am proud of the name. Proud to be a Manly. And no matter how we got here, nor how the name has been spelled along the way, we are here in America to stay, as helpers in the building of a better Nation.

In closing, let me quote from Robert Burns: "What a transient business is life. Very lately I was a boy, but t'other day I was a young man; and already I begin to feel the rigid fibre and stiffness of old age coming on faster and faster o'er my frame. With all the follies of youth, and I fear a few vices of manhood, still I congratulate myself on having had in earlier days, religion strongly impressed on my mind."

Frederick Wolfe Manly, M.D.

Most of the information given above was collected by Dr. Fred W. Manly. Sometime after his death in 1956, I was asked to take over and arrange the material that my Uncle Fred Manly left in his notes and typed pages, concerning the authentic information he had gathered. Much credit is due him for the wonderful history he has left for us, through his years of untiring search for facts.

Insofar as I could, I have copied word for word as he had written.

The "Manly Budget" (letters) was started about 1882 or 1883 by Mrs. Ann King Manly, when my mother, Lucy Jane Manly and her brother, Charles Manly, left home, and it has been kept alive ever since.

The "Budget" shows that most of our families are concerned with Christian living. Many churches are represented by membership in: Baptist, Christian, Catholic, Congregational, Evangelical United Brethren, Lutheran, Methodist, Presbyterian, Quaker, United Church of Christ, and United Brethren Churches, and perhaps others.

This has been a family project. You may find some errors, but I assure you, I have done my best to arrange the family items as given.

My sincere thanks to everyone for your help.

We have finished the record to date, as nearly as possible.

The Manly Family in America

Descendants of William Manly of Cecil County, Maryland

The first Manly to come to America, of whom we can find a record, was Ralph Manly, who came over from England as a passenger with Lord Winthrop in 1630 and landed in Charleston, Massachusetts. His name was on the passenger list.

A verbal account was that there were two brothers by the name of Manly who came over with Winthrop. That one of them died soon after landing in Charleston; the other brother, Ralph, settled in Charleston, Massachusetts. Was married and had a family and that the Manlys in America are his descendants. No record is found of his wife's name or his family.

The Massachusetts Records show that Ralph Manly settled in Charleston, Massachusetts in 1630, but nothing as to his marriage or death.

The only means we have of tracing the descent of any family during that period is by the appearance of the signature of names on Wills or any other Legal Document.

The Manly name came from Normandy, Ireland, Scotland and England to America.

In 1675 a man by the name of William Manly was living in Weymouth, Massachusetts. He was married twice. By his first wife he was father of two children, Sarah Manly and Thomas Manly. His second wife's name was Rebecca. No other record. William of Weymouth was thought by some to have been a son or grandson of Ralph Manly of Charleston. No dates given.

In 1690 a William Manly was made a free man in Boston, Massachusetts. (He was called William of Boston). William of Boston was thought to have been the son of William of Weymouth. But whether of the same family, we do not know.

William of Boston (The Wm. Manly who has made a free man in Boston) was the father of: William, Lazarus, John, Thomas, Phoebe (she died in infancy), another Phoebe was born, and Mary. The mother not mentioned. No other record.

1. William Manly, 1st child of William of Boston, married Mary Tallman of Dorchester, Massachusetts, in 1720, his first wife. After her death he married Sarah Daniels. No other record.

2. Lazarus Manly, 2nd child of William of Boston, married Sarah Hartshorn at Charleston, Massachusetts.

They had three children: William, Lazarus and George.

3. John Manly, 3rd child of William of Boston, married Elizabeth Barber, in Boston. No date given.

Their children were: Thomas, Cornelius, John and Jacob. (John Manly, whose wife was Elizabeth, was made Secretary of Customs at Baltimore, Maryland.)

4. Thomas Manly, 4th child of William of Boston, married Elizabeth Dixon, at Dorchester, Massachusetts in 1725.

Jacob Mainly, son of John Mainly and Elizabeth Barber, his wife, was born April 18, 1747. (Spelling copied from records of St. Mary Ann's Parish, Maryland.)

He married Rebecca Lum, December 15, 1768. She was the daughter of Michael Lum and his wife, Mary, in North East, Cecil County, Maryland.

Jacob Mainly and wife, Rebecca, were parents of William Manely, born July 3, 1769, and Mary Manly, born March 26, 1771. (Spelling copied.)

William Manly, son of Jacob and Rebecca Manly, married Rachel Jackson, Feb. 26, 1793 in North East, Cecil County, Maryland. Rachel Jackson was born December 30, 1773. She was said to be an only child and was of English origin. (or descent.)

The license was secured and the marriage was performed in an Episcopal Church, by the Rev. William Duke, Pastor of St. Mary Ann's Church in North East, Cecil County, Maryland. (The record of the license is in the County Clerk's Office at Elkton, Maryland and the record of the marriage is in the Church Record, which is stored in the Bank at North East, Maryland.)

He was eighth in the line of descent of the Sharpless family; seventh in line of descent of the Mercer family; sixth in line in the Walter family and third in line of descent in the Manly family.
He learned the blacksmith trade of Mr. Carver, near Pennsville, Ohio. In 1852 he rode a horse to the west, secured a job as Blacksmith at Southport, Illinois, where he worked — principally shoeing horses and making the shoes. In the spring of 1853, he rode over into Iowa, selected a place to locate; then rode back to Ohio.
He married Ann King August 13, 1853, near Malta, Ohio. She was born January 25, 1832, the daughter of James and Rebecca Smedley King, who lived near McConnellesville, Ohio. Soon after their marriage, they went to Iowa, taking with them his brother, Thomas. Spent the first winter at Columbus Junction, Iowa, in the home of an uncle, James Manly. In the spring of 1854 they bought a farm in Greenfield Township, Jones County, but decided to live in Fairview, Jones County, Iowa, on account of better church privileges.
William Manly engaged in Blacksmithing. As partners he had at different times his brother, Thomas Manly (who had come from Ohio with him), Charley Harvey, Johnny Barry and others. Business was very good, as many were going to the Gold Mines in California in wagons drawn by horses and oxen, which had to be shod; besides much other repairing During the Civil War, they had to spend many hours shoeing Army horses.

After twelve years, he bought a small farm just East of Fairview, Iowa and moved there. As he said "So the boys could have something to do to keep them out of mischief." The house was too small for his family, so in about 1872 he built a new, larger house north of the house they were living in and moved the old house away.
Sometime in the 1870's, Ann King Manly developed a cancer. She was in a hospital in Illinois for treatment. They tried to remove it, but did not succeed. She died April 29, 1881 at the farm home.
Mr. and Mrs. Manly were charter members of the first Methodist Church that was organized in Fairview, Iowa; and were always its strong supporters. Mrs. Manly was of Quaker descent, but united with the Methodist Church in 1855.

Gilbert Cope, author of the Smedley Family Genealogy, says of Ann King Manly: "She united with the M. E. Church in 1855, and was soon recognized as a leader in every good work. She ministered to the sick and needy. Prayed with the dying. Consoled the sorrowing. Quieted neighborhood disputes. She was Class Leader for many years, and up to the time of her death, she manifested sweet charity and fervent piety."
William Manly was a Republican, then Prohibitionist. A man of few words but of strong convictions. He was a good father, a good citizen, a faithful church member.
After Ann Manly died, April 29, 1881, for seven years he worked the farm. His daughters kept house, keeping the home together.
August 8, 1888 he married Mrs. Nancy Mann Hess, a widow, of Viola, Iowa, Linn Co. They moved to Anamosa, Iowa where they lived until her death December 19, 1905. Soon after, he sold the house in Anamosa and made his home among his children in Sac County, Iowa. He died at the home of his son, Lincoln Manly, near Early, Iowa, May 25, 1913. He was buried beside his wife, Ann King Manly, in the Wilcox Cemetery near Fairview, Iowa.

On May 22, 1888, he married Mary Rebecca Wood, daughter of John and Almeda Wood. She was born September 29, 1862 in Belmont County, at Barnsville, Ohio. Walter and Mary were married in Bedford, Taylor County, Iowa, near Viola, Iowa. In 1898, Walter and his brother, Fred W. Manly, went to Alaska. They took part in the Klondyke Gold Rush. They barely missed the Chilkoot Pass Slide that took many lives. They helped in the rescue work. After about two years, he returned to Iowa, where he went into the Grain and Implement Business and managed an elevator for a time in Sprpingville, Iowa.

Then, still working for the same Company, he took an outfit to Cut Knife, Saskatchwan, Canada. He managed the outfit, which was composed of several men and about twenty horses and one tractor. They raised a large quantity of wheat. After several years, the Company sold the land and equipment. Walter bought some of the land and raised wheat and lived there for sometime. He went to Seattle, Washington in 1943 to retire.

Walter Manly was a cripple, having had poliomyelitis when a small child. I think about in his third year of age. For several years he could not walk without crutches. But while the right leg did not develop as the other did, it slowly gained strength. When he started to school he could run and play, but not as other boys of his age. It got so strong, however, that in College he was able to train with the Football team, but I think never played in a regular game. He had a brilliant mind.

In 1938, Lincoln Manly, W. E. Manly, Mrs. Annie Hill, Fred and Mabel Manly motored to Cut Knife, Canada and visited their brother, Walter Manly. Bringing together the five living members of their family. The first time in 55 years that they had been together.

In September, 1893 she went to China as a Missionary. Was met at Shanghai by W. E. Manly and they were married October 15, 1893 in Shanghai, China. Her experience in teaching made it possible for her to organize and carry on the first High School in West China, Chu Chin Middle School, located one mile outside of Chungking. Their first class was graduated in 1898. Later she taught English at West China Union University in Chengtu, China.

Both Ed and Florence Manly had several furloughs back to the States. Spent sometime here when the children were small, but their great interest in Missionary work in China took them back. They retired in 1937, after about 44 years of service. They lived in Arizona, California and Montana to be near the children. Florence lives in Walnut Creek, California with daughter, Marian.

Their children are:

1. Marian Esther Manly, 1st child of W. E. and Florence Manly, born January 4, 1896 in Chungking, China. She attended school in China and later in Delaware, Ohio High School; Ohio Wesleyan University, Delaware, Ohio; Chicago University Medical School. She took the National Board Medical examinations, and interned at the New England Hospital for women and children, Roxbury, Mass., and the Worcester Memorial Hospital, Worcester, Mass.

   She went to Chengtu, China, as a Medical Missionary in 1952. Did general medical work for women and children; and taught Obstetrics in West China Union University Medical School. In 1931 organized and taught the first School of Midwifery in Szechwan Province. On furlough in 1944-1945, war prevented return to China. Did public health work in Santa Barbara County, California. Returned to China in 1946, but Communists forced return to U. S. in 1951.
   She was in China during a part of Korean War. When the Communists took over the Government in December, 1949, she hoped to continue her work, but American Missionaries were not wanted. On a minor pretext she was arrested, given trial and put in prison for five days. Some 100 common people around her school signed a paper saying she was not guilty of any crime. She was released from jail and returned to her work for two months. She returned to the U. S. in August, 1951. Later, the Communists confiscated the property she had built up, but moved the school into the city where it was continued by the graduates of the school.

   Marian retired from Mission work in 1952. After the death of her father, she went to California. She has lived in Walnut Creek, California, since 1952, and has been working as Clinician for the Contra Costra County Department of Public Health. On furlough in 1929-30 and in 1937-1938, she studied at Union Theological Seminary in New York, and was given the Degree of M.A. from the Columbia Teachers College in 1938.

   She returned to China with her sister, Dr. Marian Manly, in 1938. In 1942 she moved from Chengtu, the Capital, to Neikiang and lived there, happy in her work, though she was the only Foreign Missionary in Neikiang, with a population of perhaps 50,000 Chinese. In March, 1943, she was assisting the Chinese as they fled before the Japanese Armies as they were driven West in the War between China and Japan. She was thought to have given away her own bedding and perhaps some of her clothing to helpless Chinese and had to hunt for public lodging. She contracted Typhus Fever. Living alone in Luijaing, a Chinese city, she became very ill. Her sister, Marian, came and took her to her own apartment in Chengtu, where she lay for several weeks. She had the best of Missionary Doctors and Nurses in a Hospital. Grace died May 8, 1943 in Chengtu, China, and was buried there. Her memory is honored throughout West China. We spent 9 months in schooling and training to operate as tactical group — however, by the time we got to England, things had changed. Each man was sent to a different Squadron. Our training did come in mighty handy. As far as I know, only a few of the 120 men did not come back.

"A Buddy and I perfected a devise to use in Glider loadings. We know for a fact, that it saved three Gliders in the Rhine Mission. That means 24 men "walked away." The War ended soon after and we lost all connections. We do know that the papers were received at the Patent Office in Washington, D.C. We received a Certificate of Merit from our C. O.

"I waited 6 months to get home after the War was over. During this 6 months, I was a Jeep Driver — and drove some 20 thousand miles over France, Belgium, Luxembourg, and Germany. It was a wonderful experience to see all of those countries from the air and then see same by auto."

The Manly name has been an honored one down through the years.
May the future generations keep it that way.

A good name is rather to be chosen than great riches, and loving favor, rather than silver and gold.

Proverbs 22: 1

Your Name Is Priceless

You got it from your father,
'Twas the best he had to give.
And right gladly he bestowed it -
It is yours the while you live.

You may lose the watch he gave you,
And another you may claim,
But remember when you're tempted
To be careful of his name.

It was fair the day you got it,
And a worthy name to wear,
When he took it from his father
There was no dishonor there.

Through the years he proudly bore it,
To his father he was true,
And the name was clean and spotless
When he passed it on to you.

It is yours to wear forever,
Yours to wear while you live.
Yours, perhaps, some distant morning
To another boy to give.

And you'll smile, as did your father,
Smile above that baby there,
If a good and clean name
You are giving him to wear.
